RFP REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

In the spirit of nurturing creative research, development, and action, The Hamblige Center for Creative Arts & Sciences and The Goat Farm Arts Center have joined forces to launch a new public action project in Atlanta. FIELD EXPERIMENT aims to fully realize an ambitious singular vision with the following support: a $20,000 commission, a residency, administrative and production help. Priority will be given to work that is interactive, community-driven, collaborative, and accessible to the public. We invite artists, scientists, architects, performers, students and visionaries to work individually or collectively to dream big and produce a true Field Experiment.

PHASE 01 Five finalists will be selected to present their projects in a compelling fashion to the public at the Goat Farm Arts Center between late May and early June including the May 30th Hamblige Gala. Each finalist will receive $2,000 plus technical and production assistance. scroll to see more	PHASE 02 Presentation of the full-scale winning project in Fall of 2015 in streets, parks, fields and/or skies of Atlanta. The creator/creative team for the winning project will receive $20,000, technical and production support, and a two week residency at The Hamblige Center.

MORE INFORMATION

ELIGIBILITY

Any individual, team, or creative collaborative may submit projects. We encourage applications from creative minds representing the widest possible range of perspectives and demographics from anywhere in the world. Safety first, but we encourage risk-taking and put no limits on the types of projects we hope to support. Individual applicants or at least one team member must be 18 years old.

SITES

Applicants are encouraged to think beyond traditional exhibitions and performances to engage the landscape in bold new ways. Those who are familiar with Atlanta and have a site in mind, may note this in their proposals along with any secured permission. This is not required and will not affect evaluation of submissions.

DURATION

We are looking for carefully crafted projects that engage the community in unique and interesting ways over time as appropriate to the project concept. While all final projects should be temporary, they may last only a few moments or months.

COMMISSION INFORMATION

The $20,000 budget includes both material costs and artist fees. We do not expect an exact budget with the initial proposal, but want to make sure that the whole project is carefully considered including installation and labor costs. We are committed to realizing the vision of the winning project and
